Terms and Conditions

UK Student Films may choose to use stills, segments of your films or the film in it's entirety for promotional reasons.

UK Student Films will add a short promotional intro to the beginning of each submitted film.

UK Student Films reserves the right to pull your film from the site at any time and for any reason.

UK Student Films reserves the right to reject a submitted film for whatever reason.

Your films will not be returned to you once they have been submitted as they may be required for future iterations of the website, promotions or broadcasting.

You may request to have your film(s) pulled from UK Student Films at any point.

Disclaimer

I hereby declare that my submitted film(s), it's/their soundtrack, graphics, and all footage within does not breach or infringe copyright or intellectual property law and that the film(s) are cleared for cinema, television, internet and festival exhibition. Furthermore I will not hold UK Student Films responsible for any legal action that might occur due to the broadcasting of my film(s).

I grant express permission to UK Student Films (and it's other sister companies) to make, retain and alter a copy of the submitted film(s) for, but not limited to, screening, publicity, broadcasting and archive purposes.

Please tick the box if you DO NOT agree to UK Student Films passing on your contact details to third parties for broadcasting, promotions and other film related subjects, should the situation arise.

I have read and understand the Terms and Conditions above and agree to the Disclaimer.
